Dear Senator Kyl:

I am writing this letter to inform you of a situation here in Arizona which is having a serious negative economic effect on our local economy. On June 13, 2007 Chairman Gleason (then commissioner of the Arizona Corporation Commission) attached an amendment to the Docket which quietly abolished the 50 year long policy of extending electrical power to new homes and businesses up to 1000 feet without charge. This was done with less than 15 minutes of internal debate and virtually no public debate at all. This seemingly small change is having a tremendous effect on our economy. It is dramatically reducing real estate values and stifling construction and growth. During these difficult economic times, state, county and city budgets are struggling and cannot afford to be strained further.

I am enclosing a packet which will acquaint you with this situation. We also have a website devoted to the matter online at: www.azpowerpolicy.org.

This issue is currently being reconsidered by the ACC. Your constituency and the Arizona economy would be greatly benefited if you could voice your concern to the current ACC chairman (Kristen Mayes) and support the reinstatement of the policy as it was prior to June 2007 (reference docket # E-01345A-08-0172)

Thank You

Mike Wyllie
